

How we live

Some pictures of our house

How we live

Most of our friends and family have no idea where and how we really live. Here some pictures of our house.

First, where we live

We live on the east coast of South Africa in the small town of St. Lucia, surrounded by a nature reserve consisting of savanna, forest and the beach.

We live on a 2000 square meter plot, and immediately when you enter our gate you'll see the day care centre on the right.

During weekdays, depending in the day, we have up to 10 kids from our office staff playing there and about 5 nannies looking after them.

Down in the garden is the playground for the kids and nannies, halfway up we have a veggie garden, a pool, a braai area and a fenced off section with a pond home to 15 species of frogs!

Looking towards our house

Standing even closer you'll see that there is a separate section of the house on the right, which is where our company office is, right in the middle is Nick's private office, and on the left the house where we live.

Our office team of 9 wonder women (see right) work in this office, and in another one adjacent.

Around the corner from the main office one finds Nick's office.

Nick's private office where he works alone and where staff meetings take place

From Nick's office you walk into our living room. Excuse the mess, we've got two kids now...

From our living room one can access the dining room, kitchen and three bedrooms, and it overlooks the front garden.

And we live there with our two awesome dogs. Bo the border collie, and Storm the husky

That's all

Want to see more about the town of St. Lucia? See this blog post which I wrote:

<https://africageographic.com/blog/paradise-earth-st-lucia-estuary/>

More about the region we live in? Read this blog post:

<https://africageographic.com/blog/up-the-elephant-coast-the-perfect-bush-and-beach-break/>